

New York Child Learning Institute
Autism Awareness Day at Citi Field on Sunday, May 21, 2017
NY Mets vs. Anaheim Angels @ 1:10PM

NYCLI was founded in 1994 as a state certified nonpublic preschool for children with autism. In 1995, educational services were extended to school-age children between the ages of five and eleven. In 2002, NYCLI was certified to serve the needs of learners up to age 21. The institute implements a science-based educational approach and is committed to providing the highest standard of education for its students.

NYCLI continues to work for our community through new research, internship programs and program expansion.

Now more than ever, NYCLI needs your support.

Join NYCLI on Autism Awareness Day at Citi Field for a great cause.

- Early gate entry for participating families through the Bullpen Gate beginning at 11:10AM
